8.7. You should plan to switch Azure Information Protection Classic Client to Unified Labeling Client

Last Modified on 08/07/2020 10:17 am EEST

Microsoft has released Azure Information Protection Unified Labeling Client, which is a successor for Azure Information Protection Classic Client.

Azure Information Protection Classic Client and Label Management in the Azure Portal will be deprecated as of 31.3.2021. Before that all current Azure Information Protection customers are supposed to make a transition to the unified labeling client and the Microsoft Information Protection Unified Labeling platform. Read more about migration here.

New AIP Client is now available on CSM. Classic Client will be retired from the list on CSM Supported Apps after Microsoft has deprecated it.

We recommend all our customers to plan switching Classic Client to Unified Labeling Client since Classic client won't be updated after 31.3.2021.

When you are ready to make the change, you can do it in our management portal.
